First Generation

1. FOGARTY was born (date unknown). The Irish surname Fogarty is an anglicised form of the Irish Gaelic O'Fogartha. The prefix 'O' signifies "descendant or son of", and 'fogartha' is claimed to have been derived from the Gaelic word for "exiled or outlawed". They are referred to in the Annals of Ulster of 1072, as the "Kings of Ely" (before the Anglo-Irish Invasion). 'Fogarthacht' may also be translated as "noisy".

Ancient spellings of the surname include: O'Fhogartaigh, O'Fogartaigh, O'Fogartach, O'Fogartagh, O'Fogarty, O'Fogerty. In modern times, the clan name is rarely found in English with an "O" prefix.

The Fogartys gave their name to the Barony of Eliogarty, in Co. Tipperary, via the English phonetic spelling of "Eile ui Fhogartaigh", and the chief of the sept lived here in Eliogarty Castle. This barony lies between the Slieveardagh Mountains to the South-East, the Slieve Bloom Mountains to the North, and the Silvermine and Slieve Felim Mountains to the West. Although Fogarty is still a fairly prominent name in Co. Tipperary, the ancient Clan castle, as well as the newer Castle Fogarty, are no longer in their hands.

The Fogarty Motto reads : "Fleadh agus Failte" meaning "Banquet (or Party) and Welcome"

The Fogarty Crest consists of: "Azure two lions rampant combatant supporting a garb all or, in dexter base a crescent argent in sinister base a harp of the second stringed of the third."

Other References to the Origin of the Fogarty Clan

1. From: 'The Surnames of Ireland' by MacLysaght, Page 112, dated 1999

(O)Fogarty, Ó Fogartaigh (fogartach, expelling). A Dalcassian sept settled in the barony of Eliogarty which was named from them.

2. From: 'Irish Families' by MacLysaght, Page 89, dated 1991

(O)Fogarty. The sept O'Fogarty was of sufficient importance to give its name to a large territory, viz. Eliogarty, i.e. the southern part of Eile or Ely, the northern being Ely O'Carroll. Eliogarty is now the name of the barony of Co. Tipperary in which the town of Thurles is situated. Eliogarty is a phonetic rendering of the Irish Eile ui Fhogartaigh, the nominative case of the surname being Ó Fogartaigh. though located outside the area associated with the Dalcassian septs the O'Fogartys are counted as of Dalcassian origin. Woulfe states that the name is derived from the word fogartach meaning exiled: the modern Irish word fogartha does not mean outlawed, but such facile derivations must be accepted with reserve. The 'Annals of Ulster'. under date 1072, describe the chief of the sept as O'Fogarty, King of Ely. In modern times the name is seldom found in English with its prefix O. The majority of Fogartys come from County Tipperary but their ancient seat, Castle Fogarty, is no longer in their hands. The most remarkable of these were Malachy O'Fogarty (fl. 1700), born at Castle Fogarty, of the University of Paris, and Archbishop Fogarty (1858-1955), who was for 51 years Bishop of Killaloe: he is best known for his fearless championship of the Irish cause during the "Black and Tan" scourge in the War of Independence.

The well known surname Gogarty is of cognate origin: it is Mag Fhogartaigh in Irish.

3. From: 'The Book of Irish Families Great & Small' by O'Laughlin, Page 108, dated 1997

O'FOGARTY, O'Fogartaigh, Fogerty, Gogarty

The O'Fogarty family is anciently found in Co. Tipperary, Ireland and is considered to be an ancient Irish family. The family is still to be found in Co. Tipperary, including the area near Thurles, and their former seat of power, 'Castle Fogarty'.

Eliogarty is the name of the barony in Tipperary named after this family. In 1072 the Annals of Ulster describe the O'Fogarty chief as 'O'Fogarty, King of Ely'. They ruled over southern Ely, and O'Carroll ruled over northern Ely (Ely O'Carroll).

The name in Gaelic was spelled O'Fogartaigh, and has been said to mean exiled, outlawed or expelled.

The location of Castle Fogarty can be found on the full page map of Tipperary in the 'Complete Book For Tracing Your Irish Ancestors', indexed under 'C' for castle. One William Fogarty was an adjutant in the Irish American brigades, who resigned in 1863.

The Fogarty name is well documented in Irish history, and is found in Keatings History. O'Heerin gives Fogarty as chief of the southern Ely: 'South Ely of well established tribes-Its clans are of the race of Eocaidh Balderg-A country of affluence, abounding in Hazel Woods, It is the land which O'Fogarty obtained.'

Most of the name has dropped the "o" prefix long ago, and 61 births of the name were recorded in the 1890 birth index, primarily located in Tipperary and Dublin.

The name of Gogarty, is presumably of completely separate origins, stemming from the old family of MagFhogartaigh.

The following thoughts were prepared by John F. and Audrey F. Johnson, Paul's brother- and sister- in-law for use by Pastor Daniel Strussenberg in connection with the homily for Paul's funeral. They are unedited.

SOME REMEMBRANCES OF PAUL MC KEETON: Paul often talked about his days on the swimming team when he and his brother were champion swimmers. Paul was most proud of his service to his country in World War II and would recite war stories at every chance. He told these stories over and over for years after the war. He relished in his nickname "Sarge." At family gatherings he would make all his nephews stand at attention and show them how to salute. He had the most respect for the American flag and displayed the flag every day at his home on Judith Drive in Baldwin. He was a man in perpetual motion and kept moving--moving in every activity. He was an early riser and when it snowed, he would clear the neighbors' driveways with a 4 x 4 piece of plywood before going to work. His main occupation was warehouse management and he would arrive at all his "posts" before any other employee to organize his paper work. He kept meticulous records. He got along with both management and union. He never had a job close to home and traveled thirty to forty miles each way every day. He was the most generous person with his time than any person you could ever meet. After is retirement, Paul assumed the responsibility of caring for his aging mother-in-law--setting up her special living quarters and monitoring her medications and doctors' appointments. He recorded everything--even the number of times he would go up and down the steps. He gave her this care for many years until she was admitted to Concordia Home. He gave the same meticulous care to his wife, Emmy Lou, when she became ill. After his wife's death the family suspected the onset of Alzheimer's Disease because he would become disoriented and would loose his way. Finally his son had to take the car away. At this time Paul realized he wanted to get all his affairs in order, and true to his habit of keeping records, hew wrote reams of paper regarding his will and his requests for his funeral. He insisted on giving copies to everyone. Paul's secret ambition was to become a caregiver for the sick and feeble, and it was at this time that his family thought this would be an opportunity to get him admitted to assisted living at Concordia Home where he cold be taken care of and help the caregivers there. This was an illusion as Paul's illness progressed. His condition deteriorated during his seven and a half years at Concordia and eventually he failed to recognize close relatives. As time passed, he slept 20 out of 24 hours, and was completely dependent on others. On one of the family's last visits when it was not known if he could hear or see, he was asked if he would like to hear the Lord's Prayer. His eyes opened while the prayer was recited. He heard--he knew. Paul and Emmy Lou (Fogarty) were married at Concordia Lutheran Church in Brentwood on June 17, 1949. Paul became a member of Concordia Brentwood by adult confirmation several years before this--this is where they met. Paul was a member of Divine Charity Lutheran Church, a Wisconsin Synod mission, before joining Good Shepherd when that small mission congregation disbanded and his wife had died. He was quite active with his wife in this mission. Paul's joy in life was service to others! We will forward any further thoughts to you after my sister and her family arrives from Virginia if they have more to add.

Jack and Audrey returned to Pittsburgh in 1950, where they lived in Prospect Park, Whitehall.

He started his professional career as the Assistant Manager of South Hills Country Club. In 1952, he became the Wine Steward and Director of Sales at the William Penn Hotel in Pittsburgh. He and Audrey and their son John moved to East Bruceton Road in Pleasant Hills, Pennsylvania in 1952. Son Donald was born in 1953. John left the William Penn in 1961 when it became clear that he would be required to leave Pittsburgh in order to advance in the organization. He was Director of Convention Sales for the Pittsburgh Convention Bureau from 1961 to 1964. He and his family, which now included son Stephen and nephew Michael Thomas, moved to 308 Tangelo Drive in Gill Hall, Jefferson Borough, Pennsylvania in 1963, where he lived for the next 44 years.

From 1964 to 1992 he was Project Supervisor in the Meetings and Conferences Group for the United States Steel Corporation. He was also the Convention Manager for the International Iron and Steel Institute from about 1975 to 1994. In these jobs, he traveled all over the United States and the world. John (or J2, as he was known throughout U.S. Steel) was hard-working and known for his enthusiasm, organization and creativity. At home, John was friends with all the kids in the neighborhood, including several mentally handicapped children to whom he gave considerable time and loving and patient attention.

Throughout his life, John was intellectually curious, with particular interests in the Civil War and Lutheran theology. Even at age 85, he was always active, saying "I was never bored a day in my life", and he is enthusiastic in everything he did, believing that "Attitude is more important than skills." When asked how he is doing, his standard reply was "Outstanding!" After his retirement, he ran in numerous 5-K races, winning numerous trophies in his age group. John was a semi-talented wood-worker, turning out and giving away thousands of wood crafts over the years, before retiring from this hobby in 2009.

John was a faithful Christian who, especially after his retirement, devoted much time to Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Whitehall, Pennsylvania (where he was a member (charter) for over 40 years), serving in numerous capacities, from Sunday School lecturer to fill-in janitor.

His addresses after he married were: 1031 Marion St., Denver, CO; 1328 Sherman St., Denver, CO; 6052 Lawnwood Ave., Chicago, IL; Beven Rd, Prospect Park (Whitehall), PA (1949-52); 327 E. PROFILE:

I am a huge animal lover...I own 2 dogs and an Umbrella Cockatoo

If I wasn't in radio...I would have been a veterinarian (couldn't you tell?)

Favorite Movie: "Fast Times At Ridgemont High"

Favorite Actor: Sean Penn

What you might not know: For 6 years, I was the voice of cartoon character "Thundergirl" ...on Nickelodeon's "Action League Now"...no, I really can't fly

Favorite vacation spot: anywhere there is a beach

Dream Vacation: Bora Bora in the South Pacific (keep dreaming!)

Dream Car: a 1968 Mustang Fastback just like the one Steve McQueen drove in the movie "Bullitt"...any color will do!

Hobbies: volunteering at Animal Friends, shopping, traveling, furniture shopping, interior decorating, golfing, attending concerts, Steelers, Pirates and Penguins games and NASCAR races...and did I mention shopping?

My secret vice: shoes and boots, I own at least 140 pairs

One thing I would love to learn how to do: to surf!

I currently sit on the advisory board for Animal Friends, a companion animal resource center in Ohio Township.

Cris was an original disc jockey on WXXP in Pittsburgh, which moved to an alternative rock format in 1986 and developed a cult-like following. The following are Cris' memories of WXXP and her career in Pittsburgh radio (taken from http://www.ear.fm/cris_winter.htm in 2009):

What a long strange trip it has been ...I was on a family vacation when Double X went off the air. I remember going to the INXS show at the Civic Arena as soon as I got back into town and seeing the banners saying "Bring Double X Back" and the bummed out faces on our many listeners. It was then that I realized that we were all a part of something very special and unique. The last 20 years have been very good to me as far as a radio career. I have truly been blessed. The day I was fired from Double X, I got a call from the rock station in town WDVE. I was out of a job for all of 6 hours. Low and behold, I called DVE home for 15 years! While at DVE I did a part-time fill in. I was also DVE's Music Director for 12 years.

In 1995, I was asked to be the Program Director of a new alternative station "The X". It was a blast to be instrumental in the beginnings of a station that I am proud to say is still on the air. In 1996, I was asked to join the "Paulsen & Krenn Morning Show", one of the most successful rock radio morning shows in the country. I handled the news duties. I would be on that show for nearly 6 years.

In 2002, I was asked to join the oldies station's morning show ("3WS - Greatest Hits of the 60's and 70's"), once again handling the news duties. I became the co-host of the morning show (The Merkel & Cris Morning Show). Who would have thunk it?! I was also the NASCAR correspondent for Clear Channel - Pittsburgh. It is nice to have a hobby that I have loved for 18 years turn into a radio gig.

Animals have always been my passion and I do a lot of volunteer work with various animal organizations and I am proud to say that I sit on the advisory board for Animal Friends, a no-kill animal shelter in Pittsburgh.
